

Navy Makes Sure Not A Yank Left Stranded On Beach

TOKYO, Dec. 28 — Rear Admiral James H. Doyle, who commanded the historic United Nations evacuation from Hungnam beachhead, said here today that the major problem was to make certain that every last American was removed from the beach before the huge armada sailed.

The command was determined, he said, that not a single American would be left stranded. None was.

Doyle flew to Tokyo from Korea Wednesday after completing the historic task of withdrawing 105,000 troops and 100,000 refugees and 350,000 tons of material from the Hungnam, Wonsan and Changjin areas.

To guard against leaving anyone behind, each Navy beachmaster was given the names of men commanding the seven tiny groups that provided the last infantry cover for the final withdrawal. The beachmasters were also given the names of the men second in command of each group.

When the 45-man groups reached the beachmasters, who had small boats ready to take them to transports, the commanding officer of each group would indicate himself by name and indicate whether all men in his group were accounted for.

Doyle said this arrangement and all other arrangements for final withdrawal of the Army's Third Division were made in conference with the division commander, Maj. Gen. Robert Soule.

Refugees also were a prime problem both on the beach and at sea.

Doyle said that one day

thousands of Korean civilians started moving toward a fire-wall sector where gunfire was light for a time. The command decision was to prevent anyone from entering the perimeter because of the possibility of infiltration by Communist troops.

Doyle ordered the barrage "sweetened up" in front of the slowly moving throngs to scare them back.

Joy pointed out that the Navy rain of steel did not hit the civilians but landed in front of them.

Doyle added:

"Thank God, we didn't have to shoot into the civilians at any time."

Then he observed:

"It was really pitiful and it would have taken a pretty tough guy not to do anything about it."

So the Navy removed as many refugees as it could.

Doyle told a story about one Republic of Korea (Rok) landing ship on which 7,000 refugees were crowded, leaving standing room only. The ship was so overloaded it broke down as soon as it started from port.

Doyle ordered a repair ship to stand by the Rok vessel all night and divers went down to untangle wires from her propellers. The divers could work only 15 minutes at a time because the water was so cold it froze their air lines.

Then Rok officers messaged they had no food or water for the refugees. So the Navy filled a ship with water and Doyle said:

"Every ship in the harbor baked bread all night and a ton of rice was cooked and sent over to them."

The Rok LST broke down again the next day and was drifting toward mine fields. Doyle sent a loaded American transport to tow the crowded ship to a South Korean port.

Doyle stressed that he "maintained sufficient shipping to embark all troops shore at any time if necessary."

It was pointed out that the fleet commander had enough facilities to remove 100,000 refugees in addition to 10th Corps troops. It showed Doyle had more than enough shipping space.

Doyle added:

"I have the feeling that if we'd had the lift available we could have denuded all North Korea."

He also expressed confidence he could have met enemy air or submarine attacks if they had been mounted against his fleet.

He said:

"We were prepared for a possible air or submarine menace. We would have had it tougher and suffered losses, but we would have gotten away with it as we always have in the past."

Mercury Inching Upward

Warmer Weather Is Predicted

The weatherman gave bone-chilled Ohioans a chance to thaw out Thursday as a valiant mercury tried to fight its way out of the subfreezing zone.

"Warmer" weather returned to the state when moderating winds from the southwest displaced the frigid blasts which hurled the state right into the depths of a cold wave Wednesday.

The mercury plunged to 17 degrees below in Bryan, Williams County, Thursday morning. It was the lowest reading in seven years and two degrees lower than the —15 recorded there Wednesday.

Similar lows probably were reached in various isolated communities, the weatherman said. Other readings Thursday ranged from ten degrees above in Chesapeake to ten below in Columbus, Zanesville and Findlay.

Circleville's Thursday morning low was a minus eight—the same reading as for Wednesday, James I. Smith, local observer, reported.

WORKERS IN PICKAWAY Courthouse had double trouble in Thursday morning's chill.

When they reported to work, temperatures in some of the offices ranged between 40 and 50 degrees. A plea for more heat was sent out.

So the furnace was stoked.

But the furnace apparently was defective. Instead of heat they got smoke.

In offices of the county auditor and county treasurer, women employees were sent home, told to return at noon.

Sunshine brightened the weather outlook and the forecaster said thermometers will soar to points between 35-40 in the southwest and 30-35 in the northeast.

"Friday will be slightly warmer and cloudy with occasional snow flurries," he added, "but it will still be cold. Temperatures won't be much higher than Thursday's."

Lows Thursday night will range from 15 to 20 degrees, considerably higher than the lows recorded Wednesday when one of the chilliest reporting stations in the state, six miles west of Mansfield, reported a 29-below reading, compared with Bucyrus and Salem, which reported minus 23.

In Norwalk, which reported a low of —21 Wednesday, a family of six escaped alive in below zero temperatures when their home was destroyed by fire.

THE OHIO department of highways reports roads slippery in the vicinity of Pomeroy and north of a line marked by Van Wert, Kenton, Mansfield and St. Clairsville.

High and low temperatures at various points for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Thursday were:

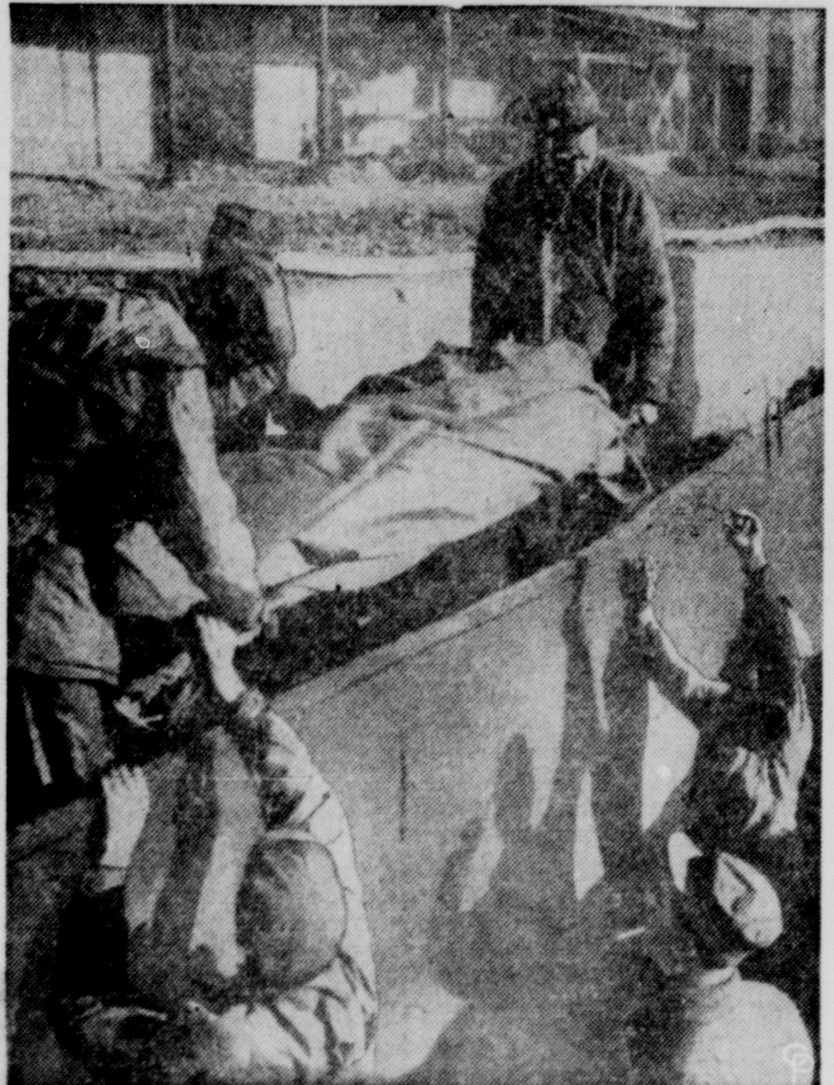

Canton 14, —3; Chesapeake 22, 10; Cincinnati 24, 8; Circleville 20, —8; Cleveland 15, —2; Columbus 18, —10; Dayton 19, 3; Findlay 18, —10; Mansfield 15, 2; Parkersburg, W. Va., 25, 5; (Continued on Page Two)

38,325 Casualties

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — The Defense Department announced today that through Dec. 22 relatives had been notified of 38,325 American casualties in Korea. This was an increase of 1,904 over the total for the previous week.

The new casualty total included 5,742 killed in action; 27,012 wounded, of whom 684 have died; and 5,571 listed as missing in action.

SAFELY REMOVED to a landing craft at Hungnam beachhead, this wounded GI is assured a New Year among the living. Some 105,000 of his buddies were safely evacuated in an historic withdrawal which entailed removal of 350,000 tons of supplies.

First 10 Days Of January Tagged For Red Attack

IN KOREA, Dec. 28—The 250,000-man United Nations army in Korea was alerted by its commander tonight to be ready for a vast Red offensive due to begin during the first ten days of January.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters predicted the all-out drive by forward elements of more than 1,350,000 Chinese and North Korean Communist troops, aimed at overrunning South Korea, will be launched during that period.

The commander's intelligence officials in Tokyo warned that more than 277,000 front-line Chinese soldiers, along with some 200,000 Korean Reds, are fully

Gas And Germ Attack Defense Is Being Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Congressional Civil Defense action was spurred today by grim official warnings that an enemy might attack U. S. cities with nerve gas or germ warfare without warning.

The Civil Defense Administration warned that saboteurs or special aerial bombs could spread infectious diseases among people, animals and crops, and that colorless, odorless nerve gas delivered by the same means could paralyze whole populations.

The agency urged local communities to build up their health agencies immediately for defense against "the worst possible disaster" from atomic, biological or chemical warfare.

Civil Defense officials urged local communities, particularly critical target areas, to take these steps immediately to save lives and relieve suffering in event of attacks:

1. Develop an automatic monitoring device for outdoor use that would detect a gas attack "within seconds" and sound an alarm.
2. Organize in cities of a million population, a minimum of 96 mobile first aid stations with a total of more than 17,000 attend-

Chiang Reported Ready To Strike At Mainland

TOKYO, Dec. 29—(Friday)—Reports from Taipei said today Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist army on Formosa has reached an advanced stage in its plans for a counter-offensive against Communist China by invading the mainland.

These reports said the army has designated four generals to lead the invasion of the Asiatic continent from Chiang's island stronghold, where for a year and a half the generalissimo has been training his troops for the special job of returning to the mainland.

The Pan Asian News Alliance said it has learned the plan for invasion is now ready. The agency said the plan will be instituted "immediately after a possible modification of the current United States policy of neutralizing Taiwan (Formosa)."

Pan Asian said names of the four generals and details of the invasion plan are top secret.

The report indicated Chiang's government anticipates a partial relaxation of American policy shortly to permit Nationalists to resume commando raids on the China coast.

Before June 27, when President Truman ordered the Seventh fleet to protect Formosa from invasion and also to prevent Chiang from blockading or attacking the China coast, the Nationalists had mounted frequent raids on the coast.

A NATIONALIST army spokesman said these raids, sometimes made by forces up to 1,000 men, were for the purpose of carrying

Huge Steel Plant Set

Booming Defense Program Outlined

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The nation's steel industry today headed into a giant defense production program which includes the largest single expansion project ever undertaken by any steel company.

United States Steel Corp. will build a new, wholly-integrated plant near Morrisville, Pa., at a cost of nearly $400 million and with capacity of 1,800,000 ingot tons of steel a year.

National Security Resource Board authorization for the huge plant was given last night. The cost is $351,414,000 for Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., and $46,631,420 for National Tube Co., both U. S. Steel subsidiaries, which will share the Morrisville plant.

Officials said the new mill will start rising on the banks of the Delaware river, opposite Trenton, N. J., early next Spring, with completion scheduled by the end of 1952.

THE FIRST finished steel products will start rolling from the Morrisville plant within six to 12 months after construction begins.

The plant will be named the Fairless Works, in honor of U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless.

U. S. Steel Board Chairman Irving S. Olds said the Fairless Works is the largest element in an over-all defense expansion program undertaken by the corporation since the Korean war started which will add more than four million tons to its annual steel output.

THE NSRB additionally certified as necessary to the booming defense effort the expansion plans of 32 other projects of 29 individual firms.

It was also anticipated that the

Lausche Cancels Fancy Ceremony

80,000 Draftees Ordered For Induction In March

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — The Defense Department called on the Selective Service system today for 80,000 draftees to be inducted into the Army during March.

The call brings to 450,000 the number of draftees requested so far and is in line with a Winter mobilization program under which draftees will be inducted at a regular rate of 80,000 per month.

Draft quotas for January and February were raised to 80,000 in a special call two weeks ago. Two National Guard divisions and five National Air Guard groups also are to be brought into service during these months.

The Navy and Airforce announced that they will make no direct use of Selective Service, but that they are assured of a big increase in recruits from among those who prefer volunteering to the draft.

THE ARMED services are driving toward a goal which will increase their total strength from the present level of 2,400,000 to about 3,100,000 by July 1.

Local boards of civilian professional men meanwhile are to be consulted on which individuals can be spared in a callup of about 5,000 doctors and dentists for military duty during the next few months.

The new draft call, in preparation for the last two days, adds to requests for 80,000 draftees each in the months of January and February.

Defense officials said that the calls will be kept at a high level through the Winter and Spring, and may be raised gradually as more training facilities and instructors become available.

Assistant Defense Secretary Anna Rosenberg, in charge of manpower, announced late yesterday the new plan for calling up doctors and dentists who have

Rationing Said Needed If Meat Price Controlled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — Agriculture officials said today that price controls on meat may force rationing.

Officials closely associated with the nation's meat situation said that if rationing is not imposed when price controls are, meat shortages would crop up in many food stores.

Observers said that price controls on meat are a virtual certainty early next year. The Economic Stabilization Agency currently is studying ways and means of clamping mandatory ceilings on meat.

If shortages are to be avoided, these officials feel that rationing is a necessity. Price controls without rationing of some type would produce the acute shortages in cities far from production areas, such as Boston, New York, Washington and Los Angeles, one observer believes.

TOKYO, Dec. 28—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters declared tonight Red China has hurled about 40 percent of its entire armed strength into a major military enterprise in Korea where a giant enemy drive is expected within two weeks.

A summary issued by the United Nations commander's intelligence service also cited "reliable sources" as disclosing that China's Communist government has tripled its military budget, appropriating $8 billion for 1951 war expenditures.

The Chinese were stated to have deployed 171,117 soldiers in front-line positions where they could mount a coordinated assault against the U. S. Eighth Army's defenses along the 38th Parallel at any time during the first ten days of January.

This striking force is but the forward echelon of more than 1,350,000 Chinese and North Korean troops estimated by MacArthur's headquarters Wednesday to be available for the expected effort to overrun South Korea.

Deployed in front of the Eighth Army along Parallel 38, the chart showed 171,117 Chinese troops.

There was no explanation of how such precise figures had been arrived at in estimating Chinese military strength in Korea.

Before the Eighth Army, the chart showed 28,000 Chinese in the Congwon area, 29,000 in the Namchonjon sector, 29,000 around Sariwon, 29,000 near Sibyon, 23,000 around Ichon and 28,000 in the Kumchon vicinity.

From all these areas the Chinese could strike quickly across the parallel in heavy force.

Grit In Water To Continue As Repairs Made

Presence of grit in Circleville city water is likely to continue until all tiles have been laid in the new water gallery.

Water Department Manager Ervin Leist said the grit is due to fine particles of sand being picked up by the well point system and carried into the receiving well, from which city water is pumped.

"The sand is not doing our pumps any good," Leist said. "But there's nothing we can do about it until the tile is all laid in the new gallery and the well points can be discarded."

The water department manager said that occasional reddish color of city water is the result of excess chlorine in the water attacking the walls of water pipes.

The extra chlorine is being used as a safety measure during the construction period.

In November chlorine content of city water averaged .25 part per million gallons. Normal content is .1 part per million.

Leist explained that one gallon of water weighs 8.34 pounds. A million gallons weighs 8,340,000 pounds.

The normal supply of chlorine in a million gallons would be .834 pounds. Last month's average of chlorine in Circleville city water was 2.085 pounds per million gallons.

Shoppers who get to the store first would get all the meat they wanted. But those who came later would find the grocery out of the meats of greater demand. Result: Shortage.

However, one observer pointed out that the government may not be able to impose mandatory meat price controls for some time because as yet it does not have an enforcement agency big enough to police rationing.

Herald's Police Reporter Bored With 'No News' Along His Beat

The Circleville Herald's police reporter, apparently bored by all the inactivity on his beat, turned in the following report Thursday.

Pickaway County was ravaged Wednesday by one of its worst undisasterous periods in history.

Hundreds of persons were not killed during the period and thousands escaped injury and arrest.

Circleville police reported that their telephone was constantly unjammed with calls from persons who wanted to report no murders, arson or burglary.

In fact, the police were forced to jump into their cruisers with sirens screaming not once during the day to give chase to robbers, speeders or drunken drivers.

The undisaster was not confined to the city, however.

County law enforcement officials said they were not busy throughout the entire day answering calls from farmers who were urgently not wanting to report cattle thefts.

He Just Sings To 'Furniture'

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 —Armand Tokatyan, 51, onetime Metropolitan Opera tenor, blamed the "unfounded jealousy" of his wife, Antoinette, 47, a New York voice teacher, for ruining their 26-year-old marriage.

Tokatyan obtained a divorce by default after testifying: "She often charged falsely that I was making violent love to the soprano on the stage. I kept on telling her that on the stage the woman I sing with is for me just another piece of furniture."

330 To Be Killed Over Weekend?

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The National Safety Council predicted today that 330 persons will die in traffic accidents in the U. S. during the New Year's holiday weekend.

The estimate followed a traffic death toll of nearly 550 during the Christmas holiday—one of the grimmest in the nation's history. The New Year's prediction covers the period from 6 p. m. tomorrow until midnight Monday.

Wells said there were hundreds of times during the day when he did not pick up his telephone to answer calls from scores of persons who were not killed or injured in traffic accidents.

In fact, summed up according to the records of both city and county emergency units, the score for the great day of undisaster was this:

No accidents, no arrests, no fires, no breakins, no robberies, and no rapes or murders.

It was just blissfully quiet and serene, the records seem to say.

develop strength to return to the mainland.

His military leaders said in mid-1949 that it would be a hopeless task to try to win a land war against the Communists by driving from South China north into Manchuria.

But these leaders claimed then that the Nationalist navy could provide Chiang's forces with the mobility that would permit him eventually to strike a telling blow from the sea.

Deployment of a major portion of two of Red China's five field armies in Korea and another in Tibet appears in Taipei to provide a good opportunity for Chiang's invasion plan.

NSRB would shortly give the go-ahead signal to plans for a quarter-billion dollar steel plant for New England to be located at New London and Waterford, Conn.

Sen. McMahon, (D) Conn., announced that the New England Steel Development Corp. has asked the government to certify as a defense necessity the steel plant for New England which would have an annual capacity of one million ingot tons annually.

THE RAPID TAX

write-off certificates from the NSRB permit the steel firms, which now hold more than $1 billion worth of them alone, to chalk off for tax purposes a certain percentage of the total amount of the plant costs.

An NSRB spokesman said that the amount varies from 25 to 45 percent of the value over a five-year period, depending on the particular project.

Included in last night's certificates for U. S. Steel were expansion projects in Pittsburgh, Gary, Ind., and South Chicago.

The NSRB certificates also included facilities for the production of malleable iron castings, barbed wire, precision steel castings, tungsten carbide, liquid oxygen, hydraulic pumps, tanks, firebrick, freight cars, ore handling equipment and other defense facilities.

Milk Retailers Slow In Getting New Permits

Some milk retailers in Circleville might find it a little difficult to sell the product next week.

It all depends on how closely they heed a warning by City Safety Director C. O. Leist concerning the purchase of new milk permits.

Leist said retailers must have the milk permits by Jan. 2 or sale of the product will not be allowed. A city ordinance requires all milk retailers to obtain the permits.

The safety director said that so far only four milk retailers out of approximately 78 have obtained the permits.

He said the permits can be obtained from the office of the city safety director in City Building. A $1 fee is charged.

Rationing Said Needed If Meat Price Controlled

Then suppose the government rolls back the price to 85 cents a pound. That will amount to a bargain and housewives will buy more meat at 85 cents than at $1 a pound.

Shoppers who get to the store first would get all the meat they wanted. But those who came later would find the grocery out of the meats of greater demand. Result: Shortage.

However, one observer pointed out that the government may not be able to impose mandatory meat price controls for some time because as yet it does not have an enforcement agency big enough to police rationing.

Herald's Police Reporter Bored With 'No News' Along His Beat

The Circleville Herald's police reporter, apparently bored by all the inactivity on his beat, turned in the following report Thursday.

Pickaway County was ravaged Wednesday by one of its worst undisasterous periods in history.

Hundreds of persons were not killed during the period and thousands escaped injury and arrest.

Circleville police reported that their telephone was constantly unjammed with calls from persons who wanted to report no murders, arson or burglary.

In fact, the police were forced to jump into their cruisers with sirens screaming not once during the day to give chase to robbers, speeders or drunken drivers.

The undisaster was not confined to the city, however.

County law enforcement officials said they were not busy throughout the entire day answering calls from farmers who were urgently not wanting to report cattle thefts.

IN ADDITION, the county lawmen pitched in 100 percent to investigate numerous traffic mishaps which failed to jam the county highways.

Circleville firemen also joined in the emergency efforts to bring the day's undisaster under control.

The blaze-chasers reported that many times during the emergency period they were not called upon to pour thousands of gallons of water onto the downtown Circleville area, which was not struck by wind-whipped flames which did not threaten the whole town.

State Highway Patrolman Clyde Wells and Circleville emergency vehicles also responded to the urgent request.

Wells said there were hunillas or sympathizers they have in the coastal regions to aid a later full-scale amphibious attack.

Chiang and his leaders have always expressed confidence that millions of Chinese, disillusioned with the Communists, would flock to the banners of any strong Nationalist army that could be landed on the mainland.

Deployment of a major portion of two of Red China's five field armies in Korea and another in Tibet appears in Taipei to provide a good opportunity for Chiang's invasion plan.

A year ago last Summer—even before the Communists took Canton—Chiang began trying to develop strength to return to the mainland.

His military leaders said in mid-1949 that it would be a hopeless task to try to win a land war against the Communists by driving from South China north into Manchuria.

But these leaders claimed then that the Nationalist navy could provide Chiang's forces with the mobility that would permit him eventually to strike a telling blow from the sea.

Huge Steel Plant Set

NSRB would shortly give the go-ahead signal to plans for a quarter-billion dollar steel plant for New England to be located at New London and Waterford, Conn.

Sen. McMahon, (D) Conn., announced that the New England Steel Development Corp. has asked the government to certify as a defense necessity the steel plant for New England which would have an annual capacity of one million ingot tons annually.

THE RAPID TAX write-off certificates from the NSRB permit the steel firms, which now hold more than $1 billion worth of them alone, to chalk off for tax purposes a certain percentage of the total amount of the plant costs.

An NSRB spokesman said that the amount varies from 25 to 45 percent of the value over a five-year period, depending on the particular project.

Included in last night's certificates for U. S. Steel were expansion projects in Pittsburgh, Gary, Ind., and South Chicago.

The NSRB certificates also included facilities for the production of malleable iron castings, barbed wire, precision steel castings, tungsten carbide, liquid oxygen, hydraulic pumps, tanks, firebrick, freight cars, ore handling equipment and other defense facilities.

330 To Be Killed Over Weekend?

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—The National Safety Council predicted today that 330 persons will die in traffic accidents in the U. S. during the New Year's holiday weekend.

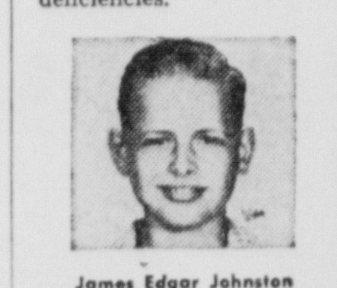

The estimate followed a traffic death toll of nearly 550 during the Christmas holiday—one of the grimmest in the nation's history. The New Year's prediction covers the period from 6 p. m. tomorrow until midnight Monday.

HAVE YOU A PUNY CHILD?

HADACOL May Relieve the Cause of Distress that is Dragging Your Child Down

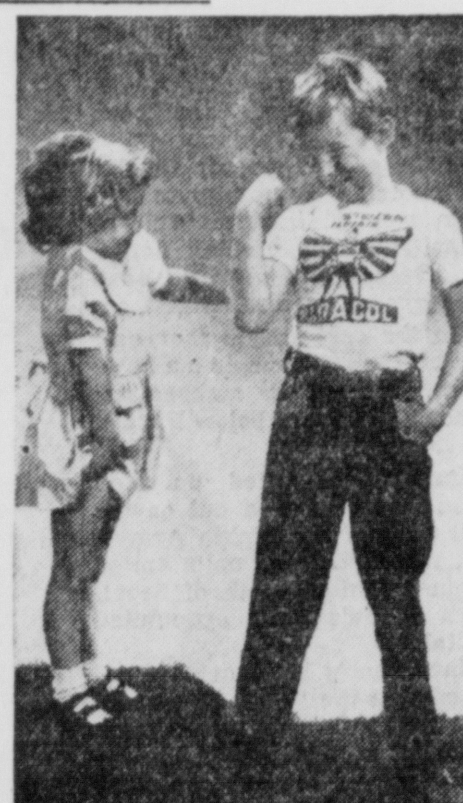

IF DUE TO A LACK OF VITAMINS B₁, B₂, IRON AND NIACIN

You don't want your child to lag behind, be below par, unable to keep up with the other kids. Medical science has verified the fact that a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system can drag children down, cause them to fall behind in their development.

James Edgar Johnston

Here is just one example—a letter from Mrs. Edgar L. Johnston, Lake, Mississippi, whose son was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. Mrs. Johnston writes: "About two and a half years ago, our little boy, James Edgar had fever, and had to stay in bed for several months. He was so weak. We had to give him liver, and all kinds of food that would build blood. He couldn't run and play. Also his food hurt him. I heard about HADACOL. I decided to try it. I could tell a great difference. He has taken fourteen bottles. He is eleven years old, weighs 92 pounds, plays on the school ball team, rides his bike, runs and plays like other boys and feels grand, sleeps all night, without waking. I can never praise HADACOL enough. I have recommended it to all my friends and got them to take it. They are thrilled over finding such a fine product."

If your child, like James Edgar, is run-down, lagging behind because of deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin, why not try HADACOL today. Many doctors recommend it for their patients, for their own families. Trial size bottle, $1.25; large family or hospital size, $3.50. Money-back guarantee. BOYS! GIRLS! BIG FREE COMIC BOOK! Milk Retailers Slow In Getting New Permits

Some milk retailers in Circleville might find it a little difficult to sell the product next week.

It all depends on how closely they heed a warning by City Safety Director C. O. Leist concerning the purchase of new milk permits.

Leist said retailers must have the milk permits by Jan. 2 or sale of the product will not be allowed. A city ordinance requires all milk retailers to obtain the permits.

The safety director said that so far only four milk retailers out of approximately 78 have obtained the permits.

He said the permits can be obtained from the office of the city safety director in City Building. A $1 fee is charged.

WORKER RATIONING POSSIBLE

No Big Manpower Surplus Is Anticipated In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—There seems no likelihood in the near future of any substantial surplus of manpower in Ohio.

In fact, there is every reason to believe that the currently untapped labor resources in this state will have to be tapped before next Fall. The only question may be this:

Just how deep will it be necessary to dip into the total manpower barrel to meet the needs both of a high-level civilian economy, and an adequate program of preparedness and defense?

It will be necessary to dip deeply enough to do the job that has to be done—even if once again it means scraping the bottom of the barrel.

No one knows exactly how much manpower will be available in 1951 for what purposes. The international picture and its effect on our national economy is too disturbed.

However, several possible courses might be charted. One course might assume continuation of the present level of defense activity. It would mean partial mobilization, voluntary controls, a gradually stepped-up draft program, some curtailment of civilian production and perhaps universal military training.

THIS COURSE would still enable civilian production sufficient to surpass prewar volume. It would be possible to avoid rationing, but might necessitate curbs to curtail inflation.

The labor market impact of this course of action would be reflected in further tightening, probably beginning next Spring and becoming more serious by Fall. As civilian goods were cut back, there would be some unemployment due to shortages of materials—particularly metals—but not alarming in volume or duration.

Shortages of workers in particular skills and scattered areas would arise, and presures for wage raises would continue. The work-week would be lengthened and time-and-a-half rates again become more prominent.

An increasing number of employers would lay out long-range plans for replacement of personnel lost to military service, to improve their manpower utilization, to train new employees. The far-sighted would already have laid the groundwork for absorption of more women, older persons, youths and others unlikely to be drafted.

Many have already laid plans for expansion of existing plant facilities and construction of new plants.

If, however, entry of the Chinese into the Korean conflict foreshadows the beginning of all-out mobilization, the labor market impact will be far greater. Civilian goods would probably have to be cut back one-fourth or more, and rationing programs developed.

Close coordination of the military draft machinery, war procurement and manpower planning for war production would be called for.

In fact, the record for World War II provides a perfect indication of what might well be expected. The time is much shorter, however. Production facilities, on the other hand, are far greater.

A third possibility, not to be discounted, involves the assumption of successful peace negotiations.

Unquestionably this would call for a sharp reduction in defense procurement, elimination of most if not all controls, and a rapid return to full civilian production. Defense expenditures and drafting for military service would level off on a higher plane than existed prior to the outbreak in Korea.

IT WOULD BE reasonable to expect the same things to happen that occurred after V-J Day—except on a smaller scale. De-

A NEW HOME awaits these tragic little victims of the war, who were picked up in the streets of battle-torn Korean towns and loaded into a truck. They are the first homeless tots to be sent to the newly established United Nations orphanage near Seoul. (International Soundphoto) mands for housing, automobiles, television sets and other goods are still far from satisfied.

The 1950 census—showing the great increase in population since 1940—has lifted the sights of most producers of goods and services. There is a greater awareness of the fact that the market-potential is still tremendous.

Return to the 40-hour week, lifting of hiring standards, more careful screening of workers, efforts to raise productivity per worker—these were the patterns of the past and could well be again expected.

All of the gains made by women, older persons, youths and others who came into the labor market would not be lost. The least productive, however, would probably lose out in the normal competition. Pressures for training, better utilization of manpower and activities to extend the labor force would relax. The general pattern might follow the experience in 1947-48.

Dog Credited With 'Record'

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—A white spitz dog brought distinction of a sort to his breed today after making his way—free of any toll—through the Lincoln Tunnel under the Hudson River from New Jersey to Manhattan.

The dog yesterday eluded toll gate guards and headed at breakneck speed through the vehicular tube, hotly pursued by a police sergeant in a radio patrol car. Emerging on the New York side of the tunnel, the animal scampered past other guards and headed somewhere uptown.

The spitz was estimated to have traversed the two-mile long

City Factories May Rob Farms Of Laborers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Agriculture officials are fearful that city factories will rob farms of their hired hands in the mobilization speedup.

Farm workers migrated in large numbers to factories during the last war and the officials are worried that another huge migration is just beginning.

They are working feverishly to tunnel in six minutes at a speed of 21.6 mph.

set up some sort of plan by which they can keep the necessary number of workers on farms to produce the record volume of crops the government wants raised next year to feed and clothe the nation and much of the world.

Some officials are fearful that a severe shortage of labor may develop especially in the cotton fields, thus strangling production of more than 16 million bales urged by Secretary Brannan.

They say that there is no reserve of unemployed workers to provide farms with labor, as there was in the last war.

Plans are being worked up to bring in foreign labor in greater numbers if the situation becomes critical next year.

2 Men Hurt In Train Mishap

BRYAN, Dec. 28—Normal operations were expected to be resumed today in the Bryan freight yards following the collision of two trains yesterday.

Two persons were injured slightly when two slow-moving Cincinnati Northern freight trains collided in the yards. Two brakemen, Ray Price and C. A. Francis, both of Van Wert, suffered minor injuries.

Both trains were on the same track at a curve. The engineers both thought the other train was on the main line of the two-track railroad.

INDUSTRY REACTION AHEAD

New Meat Grade System To Be Started Friday

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—Whether older animals in the commercial er consumers buy beef stamped with new federal grade names after Friday depends upon acceptance of those grades by the meat industry.

Two of the present grades of beef are to be renamed and one new grade will be created when the system goes into effect Friday, the United States Department of Agriculture announced today. Since federal grading is not compulsory, however, two Columbus meat authorities are not sure meat in retail counters will show any change.

James F. Gray, government meat grader in this area, said meat industry representatives in and around Columbus are reluctant to comment on the new grades.

No change in meat prices should result from the new system, Gray said. In this he was backed by a USDA letter and by L. E. Kunkle of the department of animal husbandry at Ohio State university. Kunkle, Gray and the Washington office agreed, however, the new grade of beef created by the new system will be popular with consumers if and when the industry accepts it.

Some beef in the present commercial grade is from young animals with less finish than the present good grade of beef.

"This beef produces smaller sized cuts and is quite tender," the agriculture department letter stated.

AT PRESENT this meat is lumped together with beef from

Ag Officials Ready Report On Farm Income

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Agriculture Department is expected to show Friday that average prices farmers receive for their products are approaching the all-time high.

Prices farmers receive for their crops climbed about 15 percent from the outbreak of the war in Korea to Nov. 15. The department's report on agricultural prices this week is expected to show a continuing trend of higher prices as of Dec. 15.

The government's prices received index on Nov. 15 stood at 276 of the 1910-14 "fair price" level. The record high of average prices was 306. It was reached in January, 1948.

Last month's price report showed prices of farm products averaged 16 percent higher than November a year ago. The largest gains were made in cotton, oilseeds, wool and meat animals.

And on the other side of Uncle Sam's farm price ledger—the prices farmers pay for production and living expenses—observers believe this week's report will show that the new record established last month was smashed as of Dec. 15.

The average of prices farmers pay for their needs, according to earlier government reports, has risen much slower than prices they received since the outbreak of the Korean war in late June. Prices paid went up about three percent.

But the prices-paid index on Nov. 15 stood at 263 of the 1910-14 level, less than one percent more than the previous high reached in June and July, 1946.

New Copper Allocation Plan Being Formed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The government studied today a new copper allocation plan designed to reduce civilian supplies 65 percent and ban the production of about 200 copper-containing articles.

National Production Authority experts and other government officials plan to put the drastically revised copper controls into effect March 1.

Officials declared that a similar plan will be ordered into effect on aluminum, zinc and other scarce non-ferrous metals. Proposed orders are now being drawn and will be announced shortly.

Copper, extensively used in the manufacture of numerous civilian products, is urgently needed for military production time-tabled for a sharp increase next Spring.

Reliable sources said NPA will pave the way for the new copper controls by cutting civilian supplies 20 percent in January and 40 to 45 percent in February.

This would replace the more liberal plan announced only a month ago reducing the amount of copper to be used in non-essential production from 15 to 20 percent.

The industry is already under orders not to use more copper this month than the monthly average amount consumed during the first half of this year.

Savings Accounts Show Increase

New Meat Grade System To Be Started Friday

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—Whether consumers buy beef stamped with new federal grade names after Friday depends upon acceptance of those grades by the meat industry.

Two of the present grades of beef are to be renamed and one new grade will be created when the system goes into effect Friday, the United States Department of Agriculture announced today. Since federal grading is not compulsory, however, two Columbus meat authorities are not sure meat in retail counters will show any change.

James F. Gray, government meat grader in this area, said meat industry representatives in and around Columbus are reluctant to comment on the new grades.

No change in meat prices should result from the new system, Gray said. In this he was backed by a USDA letter and by L. E. Kunkle of the department of animal husbandry at Ohio State university. Kunkle, Gray and the Washington office agreed, however, the new grade of beef created by the new system will be popular with consumers if and when the industry accepts it.

Some beef in the present commercial grade is from young animals with less finish than the present good grade of beef.

"This beef produces smaller sized cuts and... is quite tender," the agriculture department letter stated.

New Copper Allocation Plan Being Formed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The government studied today a new copper allocation plan designed to reduce civilian supplies 65 percent and ban the production of about 200 copper-containing articles.

National Production Authority experts and other government officials plan to put the drastically revised copper controls into effect March 1.

Officials declared that a similar plan will be ordered into effect on aluminum, zinc and other scarce non-ferrous metals. Proposed orders are now being drawn and will be announced shortly.

Copper, extensively used in the manufacture of numerous civilian products, is urgently needed for military production time-tabled for a sharp increase next Spring.

Reliable sources said NPA will pave the way for the new copper controls by cutting civilian supplies 20 percent in January and 40 to 45 percent in February.

This would replace the more liberal plan announced only a month ago reducing the amount of copper to be used in non-essential production from 15 to 20 percent.

The industry is already under orders not to use more copper this month than the monthly average amount consumed during the first half of this year.

Savings Accounts Show Increase

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—The National Association of Mutual Savings Banks has announced that deposits in the nation's 529 mutual savings institutions increased $88 million during November.

This compared with a rise of $82 million in November, 1949, and was the first time since May that the monthly showing topped that for the same month of a year ago. Total deposits now stand at $19,706,000,000.

MAJOR PROBLEM: LABOR

'51 Looks Like Good Year For Buckeye State Farms

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—With higher prices for the last half of the year, the agricultural income for Ohio farmers for that year 1950 probably will equal that of 1949. This will mean total sales of about $1 billion for the year.

The year 1951 is full of many uncertainties, both as to the war situation and as to the weather. However, from both a production and income standpoint, 1951 looks like a good year for the Ohio farmer.

The demand for food and other agricultural products is expected to be greater next year. With high incomes and some curtailment in the supplies of other civilian goods, the demand is expected to shift to food and other agricultural products.

The Ohio farmers' net income in 1951 may average as much as 15 percent above this year. However, with increased taxes and higher prices for consumer goods, they may not be able to buy much more next year than this.

DURING THE LAST ten years there has been a tremendous increase in the amount of machinery on Ohio farms. This has been brought about by the development of new machines, higher incomes, and the high wages of labor. This has resulted in the farm now being more fully equipped than at any time in the past.

It is this new machinery which has largely made it possible for agriculture, with 20 percent less labor, to expand its output by 35 percent in the last ten years.

In spite of this new equipment the man power shortage will be severely felt in agriculture in 1951.

In addition to military service, high wages and full employment in the cities will make a further drain on the already limited farm labor supply. A major problem in 1951 is going to be how to get the work done on time.

Mechanization of the farm also means that the output is now more dependent upon an adequate supply of gasoline, machinery, fertilizer, and other items which have to be purchased on the market to the extent that if these items cannot be secured, farm production will be curtailed.

It now appears that food production in Ohio and in the nation for 1951 will be at least as large as in 1950. Higher prices will result rather from the general inflationary tendency and from the expansion in demand due to higher incomes.

IT IS TOO EARLY to forecast the size of the 1951 wheat crop, but a large carryover from 1950 should insure an adequate supply of wheat for the year. There has been no great increase to date in the demand for exports, since European countries are getting their agricultural production back to prewar levels.

Ohio farmers start out the year 1951 with a good supply of feed on the farm, since crop yields in 1950 were generally good. However, there is much uncertainty as yet as to the final outcome with corn, our leading feed crop.

Cold weather, rain, snow, and wind around Thanksgiving found, probably, one-third of the corn in Ohio unharvested.

There will be considerable loss at the best, just how much will depend upon the weather from here on out. Had this situation prevailed throughout the corn belt it would have been a very critical situation.

It is likely that Ohio farmers will have a substantially smaller carryover of feed grains at the end of this season than a year earlier.

Ohio farmers probably will produce about the same amount of milk in 1951 as in 1950, depending upon the weather and the pasture season. A shortage of labor and the high price for beef may lead to some reduction in cow numbers.

Any increase in milk production will come from an increase in the output per cow rather than an increase in cow numbers.

Increased meat consumption which usually goes along with higher incomes should result in good prices for hogs and beef cattle. However, the number of hogs produced in 1951 probably will be the second highest on record. Continued high beef prices are in prospect.

While the number of hens on farms on Jan. 1, 1951, probably will be slightly down from a year ago, it is doubtful if the high prices for eggs which prevailed during the first half of December will continue during 1951. Last year, five percent of the total egg production was acquired by the Department of Agriculture for price support purposes.

STATES SET THE EXAMPLE

AS GOVERNOR Lausche did in Ohio, Governor Dewey has acted to introduce austerity into New York's government as a state contribution to national mobilization.

"I recognize," said Mr. Dewey to department heads at Albany, "that most departments have been cut to the bone. We shall have to cut further." Of course this was political hokum. No departments have been "cut to the bone."

But the governor has decreed there shall be no expansion of state services except for civil defense and public health. All other departmental expenditures are to be held to a minimum, reduced wherever possible. An embargo has been placed by the governor on new jobs. This policy of no replacements for the employees called to the armed services or industry is calculated not only to contract state activities, but to act as a brake as well on the payroll, which is perhaps the largest single item in all state budgets.

Even with Mr. Dewey's new directive, Albany's budget makers face a hard task to keep state spending within the $867,760,000 limit set for the present fiscal year. State governments are no more immune to rising costs than the federal government, which has already learned the startling effect of inflation upon the weapons and materials needed for national security.

So there is another point to the actions of Governors Dewey and Lausche—and may it not be lost on Washington. That is, that if the emergency requires states to conserve the tax dollar, the federal government is under even greater compulsion to cut nondefense spending to the bone. Messrs. Dewey and Lausche and their fellow governors can perform a useful public service by keeping the country informed of such omissions as and when they occur in Washington.

Less than two months have passed since the election, but can anyone name the candidate who was to defeat Senator Taft and only missed it by 430,000 votes.

These Days

Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of the New York state joint legislative committee on problems of the aging, has for many years been devoting himself to the problem of old men and women.

There are more of them in these days than there used to be. They are not only healthier but quicker than old men and women used to be. They are stronger not only in body but in mind.

Of course, everybody admits that about such publicized human beings as Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch, William Randolph Hearst, Jesse Jones, Thomas Watson and many others. But simple men and women, not so well known, show exactly the same characteristics.

Back in 1900, the life expectancy of a man was 48 years; today it is 66 years. In 1900, women had an expectancy of 51 years; today, it is 71 years. In 1900, there were 13.5 million men and women 45 years of age and over; today that segment of the population amounts to 42.5 million. That is a large slice out of 150 million population.

If all those who are 50 and over are to have no work because they are too old, we are bound to have a labor shortage, with an enormous number of useful, competent, able persons twiddling their thumbs, living on pensions and Social Security. Instead of being useful, such so-called aged persons, whose experience is invaluable, would be living on the rest of the population. Businesses which refuse to give jobs to such men and women are doing themselves and the country infinite mischief.

Senator Desmond writes:

"Continual rebuffs may have brought you to the point where you feel that you are not, in fact, a qualified worker. As an individual, maybe yes and maybe no. But a number of studies show that mature workers, as a group, make good employees. When compared with younger workers, they are as productive, their attendance record is better, they are as efficient, more attentive, more conscientious, less likely to be injured, and they cut down on labor turnover. In addition, they offer the great benefit of their experience in working with other people and in knowing the conditions and the attitudes of work."

It would seem to be ridiculous for us to prolong life, to keep the heart strong, the arteries soft, the pancreas working and all that, and then to bring disaster to the lives of oldsters by telling them that they are too old, that they are being pushed aside to make room for others whose only superiority is that they were born later.

That does not mean that youth has no value. It does mean that experience, like aging of wine, has a value all its own. That is why men like Hoover and Baruch are not swept off their feet by popular slogans and the fierce fire of press agents who create what they call public opinion. Half a century of experience is a tool. It is a tool for which there is no substitute.

Disorder That Gives No Warning

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE danger of rupture is one of the serious hazards of ulcer of the stomach and first part of the bowel. Much could be done to prevent such accidents, if only they could be predicted. Unfortunately, search for clues as to the factors which bring them on have done little except to show what we already knew—that breaking through of the stomach or bowel wall tends to come suddenly and without advance warning.

Even so, certain facts do stand out. It is interesting to note, for instance, that rupture of an ulcer in one group studied occurred 15 times more often in men than in women. Then, too, so far as the sexes are concerned, the location of the ulcer seems to have a bearing on whether rupture is to be expected or not. In men, an ulcer of the intestine is four times as likely to rupture as is ulcer of the stomach. In women the reverse is true, ulcers of the stomach rupturing twice as often as bowel ulcers.

Physical Strain

On the other hand, there is no apparent connection between rupture of an ulcer and mental or physical strain, though both of the conditions are regarded as having a great deal to do with producing it in the first place.

Breaking through of the ulcer occurs rarely in persons under 20 years of age. After that time, the average age in men is about 45 years, and in women about 49.

Greater Chance

The longer an ulcer has been present, the greater the chance that it will rupture. In most cases of gastric ulcers, the symptoms are present for at least a year before any rupture is likely. Occasionally, ulcers have been present for as long as 30 or 40 years before perforation.

Before an ulcer breaks, the usual ulcer symptoms may be present, consisting of attacks of pain in the abdomen, occurring about three hours after meals. These pains are usually relieved by taking some alkaline substance or food, such as milk. However, in a great number of cases, no symptoms whatever are felt before the rupture takes place.

Smoked Excessively

In a group studied, it was found that about 1/3 of the patients smoked excessively and some also drank heavily. It is interesting to note that most of the ruptures occurred from November to January, inclusive. From August through October, ruptures occurred only about half as often as during the winter months. Ruptures also occur most often in the afternoon and evening.

Of course, when a person has symptoms of ulcer of the stomach or bowel, immediate study by the physician, including X-ray examination, is advisable. If the condition is found, treatment should be started at once. If treatment does not bring relief, operative measures may be necessary.

"We came up on the train with Miss Cram last night," Frank explained, "and we were asking her to join our table for the Noel dinner. We hoped you both would come along, unless you have other plans."

"That's very nice of you, and we'd like to. I just arrived and haven't even made a reservation. Is it dress?"

"I hate to break the news," laughed Frank, "but it's black tie every night in this joint."

"Good thing I brought mine with me."

Marcia was pleased with the way the Reillys seemed to take to Tim, and also at Tim's prompt acceptance of their invitation. To share someone's table at the party would bridge the embarrassment of the first evening together. She still felt shy of Tim.

They thanked the Reillys again and left them to their sherry. Outside by the ski shed, they adjusted their bindings, took up their poles, and started across the open field.

"They seemed a pleasant couple," Tim said. "I wasn't sure whether you wanted to join up with them or not, but it seemed a good idea to share Christmas Eve with some fellow Americans. Okay?"

Christmas Holidays

A story of the magic of Christmas which gave to three women that greatest of all gifts—a second chance.

by SARAH ELIZABETH RODGER

SYNOPSIS
Three Americans on holiday in the Swiss Alps meet as they journey to the fashionable Waidmatten hotel. They are respectively Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reilly, and Marcia Crum, a New York girl employed in London, there a good friendship begins. Marcia is to decide whether or not she will marry Tim Greenough, fellow American working among displaced persons abroad. She'd been hurt by love, in fear to trust it again. Tim is to join her for Christmas. While awaiting him in the railroad station, Count deLorenz, a dashing cavalier, flirts boldly with her.

CHAPTER FOUR
TIM appeared in the doorway presently, and Marcia signaled him. As he crossed the room she felt a little stirring of pride in his lean homeliness. Though he wasn't good-looking, he had a face everyone instinctively liked.

"This is Timothy Greenough," she said. "Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reilly."

"We came up on the train with Miss Crum last night," Frank explained, "and we were asking her to join our table for the Noel dinner. We hoped you both would come along, unless you have other plans."

"That's very nice of you, and we'd like to. I just arrived and haven't even made a reservation. Is it dress?"

"I hate to break the news," laughed Frank, "but it's black tie every night in this hotel."

"Good thing I brought mine with me," Marcia was pleased with the way the Reillys seemed to take to Tim, and also at Tim's prompt acceptance of their invitation. To share someone's table at the party would bridge the embarrassment of the first evening together. She still felt shy of Tim.

They thanked the Reillys again and left them to their sherry. Outside, by the ski shed, they adjusted their bindings, took up their poles, and started across the open field.

"They seemed a pleasant couple," Tim said. "I wasn't sure whether you wanted to join up with them or not, but it seemed a good idea to share Christmas Eve with some fellow Americans. Okay?"

"Absolutely," she answered. "Marcia—" He stopped a moment, anchoring his poles in the snow. "Don't ever let me persuade you into anything you don't want to do, will you? You're such a—oh, I don't know—a gentle sort of person. I don't want to push you around."

"I'm not gentle," she objected. Copyright, 1948, by Crowell Collier Publishing Co., under title "Never Love Love."

"I'm rather nearsighted, actually. Ask my family."

He looked quizzically at her, then, continued on the ski track across the field to the nursery slopes. She followed, wondering why he had called her gentle, when what she really was might be called afraid. But the sun was warm and the rhythmic sound of the poles in the snow was oddly sweet in her ears. She needn't, for a little while, think at all...

The tallest waiter lit the candles on the Christmas tree. They made a brave glow in the darkened Great Hall, where the reserved tables were grouped closely about the dance floor. The earnest-faced four-piece orchestra began to play Silent Night.

"I've never seen a tree lit with real candles," murmured Marcia.

"You're young, my dear," Frank Reilly said. "I have, when I was a boy out in Kansas. I was born in a house which wasn't wired for electricity."

"Heavens!" said Enid. "I never knew that."

"My child bride," teased Frank. "I'm thirty-seven, remember?"

There were seven at the Reillys' table, a third couple, Americans connected with the Embassy in Paris, named Malstrom, and an extra man Marcia recognized at once as the Count Somebody who had spoken to her in the station that morning. She acknowledged the introduction demurely as though they were complete strangers. His eyes shared the secret with her in a gleam of mischief.

"I'm thirty-five," he said gently, "and I'm sure my memories are more primitive than any of yours. I lived in a backward country—"

He named one of the Balkan states. "Though, of course, now that outsiders have undertaken to civilize us, there will probably be at least one modern bathroom in every old castle—for the Commissioner's use."

Frank Reilly had ordered champagne for his party, and now the waiter poured it into the fragile wineglasses.

When everyone had been served, Frank said huskily, "May I propose a toast? To Christmas in America—may it be merry and bright, everything we dream of when we dream of home!"

"To Christmas in America," they all repeated gravely, and Marcia was afraid she was going to cry. Glancing at Enid, she saw the unshed tears gleaming in her eyes.

"I'm not gentle," she objected. Copyright, 1948, by Crowell Collier Publishing Co., under title "Never Love Love."

"He might drop it," replied Tim cynically. "Some of us who have been here from the beginning don't want to take a chance on that."

She drew a slow breath. She thought she knew what kind of man he was—the kind who would always put a cause above a woman, principles before personal happiness, other people's homes ahead of one of his own. "I would be so Swissland on Christmas Eve with a man like you, Tim Greenough," she thought.

About 300 Couples Attend Annual Mistletoe Ball Held In Coliseum Here

Band Is Held An Extra Hour

The nearly 300 couples at the Kiwanis sponsored Mistletoe Ball had such a good time Wednesday evening that special arrangements were made with Ned Mapes and his orchestra to prolong dancing time until 2 p. m.—an hour longer than originally scheduled.

Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum was decorated for the County's biggest dance, highlight of the social season with a simulated ceiling of red and green streamers.

Maynard Matz, general chairman, who had maintained all along that there would be mistletoe at the Mistletoe Ball, saw to it that a big bunch of the green stuff tied with red ribbon centered the false ceiling. During the evening from time to time the mistletoe was spotlighted.

Formal attire complete with corsages was the order of the evening although a few parties did not "dress up."

Twenty long tables with a seating capacity for 20 persons each and lots of extra chairs were provided by the committee for dancers who wanted to sit out a few numbers.

Dancers expressed delight with the music provided by Mapes and his band. Dancers liked the variety which marks all the performances of the orchestra. Singers including Freddy McNulty, Bill Hains and the Three Notes were well received.

The ball, sponsored each year by Circleville Kiwanis Club, provides funds for the club's underprivileged children's activities. The club sends boys to a special Summer camp in the Hocking Hills, gives parties for local orphans and has its checkbook ready for youths who require special assistance.

Major project on the Kiwanis agenda is sponsorship of the annual Summer playground program in Circleville's Ted Lewis Park.

Pre-ball parties, large and small were given in various homes.

Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moats, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Samuel were a few of the couples who entertained before the dance.

Out-of-town guests were from Newark, Dayton, Columbus, Los Angeles, Marion and Chillicothe.

While several parties were given before the Mistletoe Ball, Gary Brown entertained several of his friends at a breakfast in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Brown, after the dance.

Guests were seated around the table in the Brown diningroom about 4 a. m. for a bacon and egg breakfast.

Guests included Sally Eshelman, Jackie Smith, Nancy Bowler, Bill Clifton and Jimmy Carpenter.

British Video Plans To 'See' Ghost Walking

LONDON, Dec. 28—The British Broadcasting Corp. announced today it hopes to show television audiences something out of this world—the ghost of Catherine Howard who lost her head over King Henry VIII in 1542.

The fifth wife of England's lusty monarch, who was beheaded Feb. 13, 1542, for alleged infidelity after her marriage to the king, is one of England's best-known apparitions.

She supposedly walks the draughty gallery of Hampton Court Palace keeping an eye on the royal chamber where Henry was wont to entertain his latest royal sweetheart.

The BBC plans to "catch" Catherine in the act Jan. 10, if the spirit is willing. Three cameras will be used in the experiment including one that will be focused on the gallery where Catherine is supposed to walk during her lonely vigil.

All three cameras will be operating at the same time and at the moment any supernatural phenomenon appears on one, Producer Keith Howard, sitting in a control van outside the palace, will flash the picture to the television audience. That is, if anything happens.

Dancer Claims Few Assets

TOLEDO, Dec. 28—The Hammond Instrument Co. of New York has a judgment for $165.20 against Sally Rand, but the firm may have to settle for a couple of fan dances instead.

Common Pleas Judge Thomas J. O'Connor returned the judgment when the firm said the dancer had failed to pay the rental on an organ.

But when she was served with the summons, the blonde told sheriff's deputies that "you can't attach any of my property because I have none here. All I have is my body."

The $1,600 was the price paid by the directors for the booklets. Sale of the souvenirs brought in only $74.73.

Not only did the booklets fail to sell, but officials have not been able to give them away. Originally slated to sell for 15 cents a copy, many of the booklets still are on store counters awaiting a taker, free for the asking.

COLVILLE BLAMED purchase of the booklets for the 1950 Pumpkin Show winding up $512.06 "in the hole."

By "in the hole," Colville stressed that Pumpkin Show, Inc., is not in debt. It was merely forced to dip into its reserves. Foresighted Pumpkin Show directors have built up an emergency fund.

Even with the $512.06 deficit on 1950 operation, the big street show still has more than $4,500 with which to build a foundation for the 1951 extravaganza.

He said total receipts were $11,082.18, while expenditures totalled $11,594.24. Breakdown of receipts follows:

Concessions, $7,217; donations, $1,505.50; rides, $2,004.81; shows, $125; pie booth, $94.94; sale of souvenir programs, $79.73; sale of jugs, $8; refunds, $53.20.

Breakdown of expenditures: Expense, $984.91; accounts paid on 1949 show, $493.87; printing and advertising, $906.31; premiums, $2,050.33; parades, $410; bands, $1,174; judges, $145.38; free acts and entertainment, $1,370; labor, $304.67; watchmen and police, $867.38; supplies, $1,734.90; rent, $895; equipment, $50; and insurance, $207.49.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

As we move into what may well be the most fateful year in the history of American freedom, with every family called upon to make keenly felt sacrifices, our citizenry needs to be fortified with a better understanding and a re-vitalized appreciation of the American way of life.

The story related to me this week by Helene Forster thus is timely—for it is a part of the sinew and the soul of America. Here it is:

The rumblings of Hitler's National Socialism and the trapings of the police state had begun to move ominously onto the stage in Germany when, in 1924, Johnny and Helene Forster, of Dresden in Saxony, bundled up their two boys and their meager personal belongings and made their way to Hamburg where they got passage in the steerage of an ocean liner bound for America.

Upon arrival in New York they had $12. They had no acquaintances, could not speak English. But for the first time in their lives they knew their opportunity had arrived. They were supremely happy.

JOHNNY FORSTER found work here and there, often hard manual labor. When he arrived home in the evenings the family would have dinner, then Helene would leave him with the babies and go to her work as charwoman in a Central Park mansion or Manhattan office building. In time the family moved to Chicago and Johnny got work at the stockyards. And, as the boys were by now in school, Helene worked daytimes too. They were thrifty, enterprising and, especially for the boys' sake, ambitious. Their love for America grew. They were now naturalized.

On their modest earnings the Forsters furnished a home, gave their sons wonderful American Christmases—and saved a nest egg. Johnny got a job with a service station. In a few years he was operating his own, on a shoe string. And the couple continued to save money.

One Summer the Forsters took a trip south in their own car.

In southern Missouri, on the west bank of the Mississippi, they found a little city they liked, Cape Girardeau, a perfect location for the business they had saved for and dreamed of.

On heavily traveled U. S. 61 just north of Cape Girardeau, the Forsters built a modern tourist court with five air-conditioned cottages as a starter. This was in 1939. Soon the war was upon them and their plans were disrupted. They were faced with the demand for severe sacrifices. What they did about it is part of Helene Forster's story.

"WE TRIED TO REPAY Uncle Sam a little for the happiness he gave us," she told me. "We never had known such happiness. Our sons went to the Navy and were in the fighting. My husband too. I kept the home and business going. We would do it again to preserve this freedom we so highly cherish."

She had written me expressing gratitude for our radio series, "Land of the Free." The lack of understanding and appreciation of the American way of life, especially among some of the younger people who stop off at their now greatly expanded tourist court, worries the Forsters. "They talk," she said, "as if they knew nothing at all about the value of freedom. How lucky we people in America are."

"Words in any language cannot adequately tell what we feel about our country," she said.

"Where else on the globe can anyone starting with two babies and $12 show what we have. It is like a miracle. Sometimes my husband and I go across the highway and look from there at our place. We pinch each other to be sure it's really true. We had to work hard, but it was a pleasure. Our boys had a wonderful childhood, all the things my husband and I just dreamed about when we were young—and not in America."

"These Communists cannot tell just one little success story like ours. Our system of government is the best on earth. I know, because I know the difference. And I am sure there are millions of Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews who have success stories like ours. Joe Stalin can't

Marion School Project Given $3,045,000

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28 — he state welfare department moved toward further construction at the Marion training school today as the state controlling board transferred $3,045,000 to the school.

The board voted 4-1 yesterday to transfer the money from the Grafton state honor camp with Deputy State Auditor Norman Beck abstaining.

The controlling board already had approved the transfer of $195,000 from Grafton for the preparation of plans for the Marion school.

The board called in State Welfare Director John H. Lamneck who said Ohio is "sitting on a potential catastrophe" because of its crowded penal and mental institutions.

Lamneck said the Marion school was designed in part to help eliminate these conditions.

The welfare chief told the board his department decided to replace the Grafton honor camp with the Marion school when it was discovered there was insufficient water at the Grafton site.

He said the city of Elyria had agreed to sell the state water but that it would cost $450,000 to build a pipeline from Elyria to Grafton.

Lamneck pointed out that the department's original request for $7 million for a prison farm had been cut in half and claimed that the imposition of pipeline costs would make the Grafton site impossible for the purpose intended.

write a single one—and yet people sometimes talk such rubbish. I guess they really don't know the facts."

That's my guess too. So we all have the job of getting the facts and passing them on to others. The freedom flame must be kept burning high in American hearts during this crisis.

Illinois Solon Sets Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — The all-time record of more than 43 years consecutive service in Congress was broken today by Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, (D) Ill., 84-year-old dean of the House.

The record was previously held by Sen. Justin S. Morrill, (R) Vermont, who served without interruption 43 years, 9 months and 24 days in the House and Senate. He entered the House March 3, 1855, and served until his death Dec. 27, 1898.

Sabath began his lengthy service in the House March 4, 1907, and has served continuously since then. He is chairman of the House Rules Committee.

2 Top Reasons Cited For Nod Given To Spain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—President Truman's decision to restore full diplomatic relations with Spain is regarded today as a direct slap at the Kremlin's exploitation of Spain for political propaganda.

The move is also viewed in diplomatic quarters as aimed at being the Francisco Franco regime into the international family of free European nations.

The nomination of Stanton Griffis, New York and California financier, also indicates that the U. S. will seek to get Franco's regime on a self-sustaining basis to justify loans for reconstruction and development.

Griffis, in the few years he has been serving in the diplomatic field, has developed into an effective trouble shooter.

For some time Franco's government has needed dollar aid badly. But Secretary of State Acheson, while denying any political considerations were involved, branded Spain a "poor risk" until it put its financial house in order.

LATER CONGRESS appropriated more than $62 million for Spain. The Economic Cooperation Administration will handle the fund, with the Export-Import Bank acting as fiscal agent.

Thus far Spain has put forward only one project regarded as assuring repayment. This is for a fertilizer plant to improve agricultural output and raise the standard of living.

Griffis, therefore, may be useful in pointing out projects which would be likely to be approved. He might also make clear what

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

As we move into what may be the most fateful year in the history of American freedom, with every family called upon to make keenly felt sacrifices, our citizenry needs to be fortified with a better understanding and a re-vitalized appreciation of the American way of life.

The story related to me this week by Helene Forster thus is timely—for it is a part of the sinew and the soul of America. Here it is:

The rumblings of Hitler's National Socialism and the trapings of the police state had begun to move ominously onto the stage in Germany when, in 1924, Johnny and Helene Forster, of Dresden in Saxony, bundled up their two boys and their meager personal belongings and made their way to Hamburg where they got passage in the steerage of an ocean liner bound for America.

Upon arrival in New York they had $12. They had no acquaintances, could not speak English. But for the first time in their lives they knew their opportunity had arrived. They were supremely happy.

JOHNNY FORSTER found work here and there, often hard manual labor. When he arrived home in the evenings the family would have dinner, then Helene would leave him with the babies and go to her work as charwoman in a Central Park mansion or Manhattan office building. In time the family moved to Chicago and Johnny got work at the stockyards. And, as the boys were by now in school, Helene worked daytimes too. They were thrifty, enterprising and, especially for the boys' sake, ambitious. Their love for America grew. They were now naturalized.

On their modest earnings the Forsters furnished a home, gave their sons wonderful American Christmases—and saved a nest egg. Johnny got a job with a service station. In a few years he was operating his own, on a shoe string. And the couple continued to save money.

One Summer the Forsters took a trip south in their own car.

In southern Missouri, on the west bank of the Mississippi, they found a little city they liked, Cape Girardeau, a perfect location for the business they had saved for and dreamed of. On heavily traveled U. S. 61 just north of Cape Girardeau, the Forsters built a modern tourist court with five air-conditioned cottages as a starter. This was in 1939. Soon the war was upon them and their plans were disrupted. They were faced with the demand for severe sacrifices. What they did about it is part of Helene Forster's story.

"WE TRIED TO REPAY Uncle Sam a little for the happiness he gave us," she told me. "We never had known such happiness. Our sons went to the Navy and were in the fighting. My husband too. I kept the home and business going. We would do it again to preserve this freedom we so highly cherish."

She had written me expressing gratitude for our radio series, "Land of the Free." The lack of understanding and appreciation of the American way of life, especially among some of the younger people who stop off at their now greatly expanded tourist court, worries the Forsters. "They talk," she said, "as if they knew nothing at all about the value of freedom. How lucky we people in America are."

"Words in any language cannot adequately tell what we feel about our country," she said.

"Where else on the globe can anyone starting with two babies and $12 show what we have. It is like a miracle. Sometimes my husband and I go across the highway and look from there at our place. We pinch each other to be sure it's really true. We had to work hard, but it was a pleasure. Our boys had a wonderful childhood, all the things my husband and I just dreamed about when we were young—and not in America."

"These Communists cannot tell just one little success story like ours. Our system of government is the best on earth. I know, because I know the difference. And I am sure there are millions of Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews who have success stories like ours. Joe Stalin can't

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28 — he state welfare department moved toward further construction at the Marion training school today as the state controlling board transferred $3,045,000 to the school.

The board voted 4-1 yesterday to transfer the money from the Grafton state honor camp with Deputy State Auditor Norman Beck abstaining.

The controlling board already had approved the transfer of $195,000 from Grafton for the preparation of plans for the Marion school.

The board called in State Welfare Director John H. Lamneck who said Ohio is "sitting on a potential catastrophe" because of its crowded penal and mental institutions.

Lamneck said the Marion school was designed in part to help eliminate these conditions.

The welfare chief told the board his department decided to replace the Grafton honor camp with the Marion school when it was discovered there was insufficient water at the Grafton site.

He said the city of Elyria had agreed to sell the state water but that it would cost $450,000 to build a pipeline from Elyria to Grafton.

Lamneck pointed out that the department's original request for $7 million for a prison farm had been cut in half and claimed that the imposition of pipeline costs would make the Grafton site impossible for the purpose intended.

write a single one—and yet people sometimes talk such rubbish. I guess they really don't know the facts."

That's my guess too. So we all have the job of getting the facts and passing them on to others. The freedom flame must be kept burning high in American hearts during this crisis.

Rocket Engineers Use Tiny Models In Tests; Savings Total Millions

By ANDREW R. BOONE
Central Press Correspondent

MOFFETT FIELD, Cal.—How do rockets behave as they are gracefully high above the earth? The generals and admirals want to know, without spending millions to find out.

They do not actually have to fire a giant V-2 to learn its aerodynamic secrets while the rocket flies seven times faster than sound.

All they need is a tiny model more slender than your little finger, shorter than a pencil and weighing only one-quarter of an ounce. Plus, of course, the right kind of wind tunnel. Here models of several sizes and shapes are fired from guns into the teeth of supersonic gales.

They travel only 60 feet before plunging into a barrel-like catcher filled with waste. Some hit a speed of 5,000 feet a second. Yet, during their brief flights both movie and still photographs are taken to reveal their velocities and behavior.

NACA has borrowed from ordnance experts in developing the free-flight technique.

Customarily, a model plane, or wing, or missile, is firmly attached to a support and the air blown over its surface. The various forces are recorded by elaborate apparatus outside the tunnel.

AIR IS BLOWN through the tunnel by bleeding a pressure sphere. When the wind reaches two to three times sound's speed, the model is fired from a gun mounted inside the tunnel. Ordinary instrumentation won't do here. Nothing less than high speed photography will catch the fleeting shadows as a model zips upstream.

Firing odd-shaped objects from a gun isn't the same as inserting a cartridge and letting the bullet spiral down the rifled grooves. You must seal back the rapidly expanding gases until the model leaves the barrel, and you need to keep the model properly aligned.

To accomplish this neat trick, NACA's experts devised a tiny carrier, called a sabot, of lucite or nylon. The model fits snugly within its slender mouth. Once out of the muzzle, the sabot breaks apart and falls away. The model flies on, undisturbed by its temporary carrier.

Within a few millionths of a second after leaving the gun, the model enters the 18-foot test section. As it moves along, it triggers four picture-taking stations into action.

So accurately does this system work, distance measures are correct within a few thousandths of an inch, time measurements within one-tenth of a microsecond.

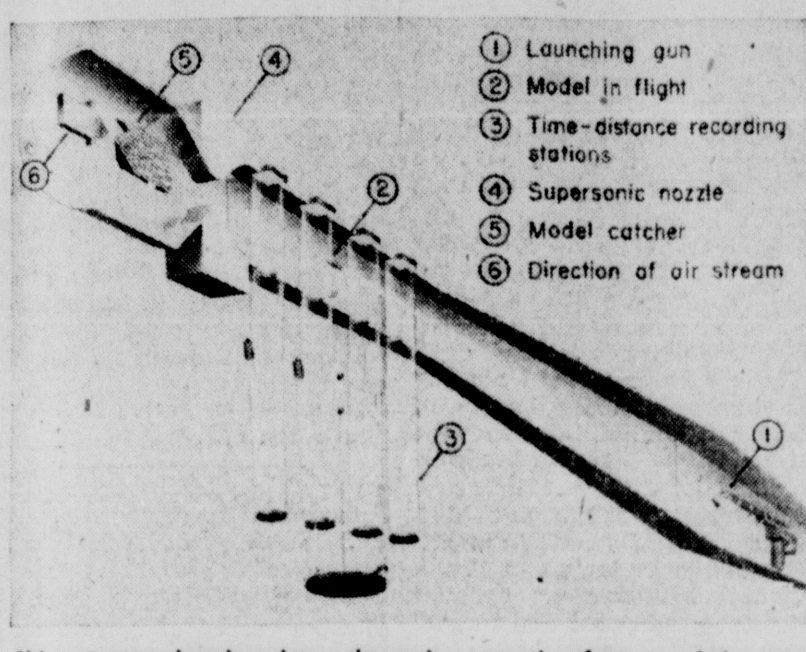

Already measurements have been obtained during flights shorter than one-hundredth of a second. The models are tiny indeed. Why do they make like V-2s, then?

That's because the density of the air is kept relatively high. The research results come out just about as though thousands of man-hours and dollars had gone into launching a V-2 instead of a pencil.

MINIATURE rockets and planes promise more revolutionary weapons for Uncle Sam. With delicate skill, model makers are fashioning many shapes that will withstand the battering of supersonic flight.

Some shapes, smaller than your hand, their leading and trailing edges ground razor-sharp, explore mysteries posed by airstreams flowing faster than sound.

Swept wings, triangular wings and other, unpublicized, air foils move regularly from the model shops to the wind tunnels for test. Some of these shapes will make their appearance as military aircraft within a few years.

This cutaway drawing shows the major operating features of the new supersonic free-flight wind tunnel at Ames Aeronautical laboratory.

Almost every idea proposed by competent designers to increase the speed of a fighter or lengthen the range of a bomber gets a try-out at Ames. Many complex problems already have been solved. Navy and military planes now fly in received in part at least, their baptism of flight as models.

Unlike the aluminum alloys from which the real planes are fabricated, lead, plastics, tough Central American mahogany and steel make up the models. For the larger ones, steel provides strength, wood facilitates contouring and makes possible chiseling out ducts to carry pressure-recording tubes.

With information gained by measuring forces imposed at numerous points—as many as 600 on a bomber—engineers learn whether a nacelle will feed intake air efficiently into a jet engine, what degree of sweep is best for a proposed fighter wing, the best shape for a pointed nose intended to bore through the air at supersonic velocities.

Some of the shapes they try never will enjoy flight under the hand of a pilot. Those that survive the crucible of repeated runs in the tunnels will join the Air Force and Navy in months to come.

Only by failing, many times, can the men who play with models produce the wings that will give the United States pre-eminence in the air.

MOOSE ALLEYS CLOSED

Hanleys, Independents And Isalys Lead Leagues

Hanleys, Independents and Isalys are the three top teams in the three Moose Alley bowling leagues after 14 weeks of league competition.

Hanleys leads in the six-team Monday men's league with a record of 28 wins in 42 games this season, while the Independents lead in the 10-team Tuesday women's league with 32 wins in 45 games.

Isalys keggers, however, have shown the most impressive record to date, leading the Wednesday men's league with 34 wins in 45 games this season.

The trio of Circleville bowling leagues has suspended alley operations indefinitely, however, after having completed the 14 weeks of competition.

PETE NOBLE, manager of the local alleys, said the three leagues suspended operations because of litigation involving the Moose Lodge, owner of the lanes.

Legal proceedings include a suit which asks that the lodge building be placed into receivership. Two other claims also have been filed for collection of money from the lodge.

The lodge ordered Thursday that the local alleys be closed indefinitely.

In the league standings, the Wednesday league has shown the closest competition to date.

While Isalys lead the loop with a 34-11 record, Ward Market keggers are only a half game out of first place with a 33-12 record, while the next close competitor for honors is Ankrom Lumber with a 28-17 mark.

Top Hat bowlers are second in the Monday league standings with a record of 26 won, 16 lost to date while Elsea Airport and Purina Mill are tied for third with 21-21 records.

STARKEY CLEANERS rank second in the women's league with a 30-15 mark and Top Hat and Boyds are tied for third with 21-21 records.

Leading individual bowler to date in the local league competition is Art McGran, who paces all league keggers to date with a 265-pin high single game and a 663-pin three-game series.

McGran also aided his Hanley team in establishing the high team records to date this season. Hanleys lead other teams with a 2,931-pin three game series and a 1,057-pin high single game.

Dave Olney, however, paces the scorers in high average to date, having registered a torrid 183-pin average in the Monday league operations.

Second to Olney in Monday league averages is Harold Stonerock with 177 pins per game to his credit.

Stonerock, however, changed places with Olney in the Wednesday loop with a high average of 181 while Olney is second with 180.

IN THE WEDNESDAY league, Bill Halstenberg of The Circleville Herald team leads in high three-game score with a 651-pin effort, while Allen Strawser ranks as high individual scorer with a 251-pin game behind him.

Isalys has set the mark in team play, with a 2,911-pin record for high three games and a 1,029-pin effort for high single game.

The women keggers are not to be left out of the honor lineup, however.

Mrs. Gloria Simison has earned top honors among the women bowlers with a 224-pin high individual game this season while Rosemary Horn is second with a 215-pin game.

Independent women keggers have set the mark for team play in the Tuesday league with a high three-game series of 2,427 pins and a high single game mark of 870 pins.

Mrs. Maxine Wantz is leading individual bowler in high three-game series with a total of 546 pins, while Mrs. Marge Olney is second with a 535-pin series.

Mrs. Mary Noble has earned laurels in the league with a 155-pin average in the 14-week period, while Mrs. Ethel Brink is second with a 154-pin average effort.

MORE THAN half of this season lies ahead for the three local teams. Monday league is to bowl 16 more weeks, Tuesday league is to bowl 19 more weeks and Wednesday league is to bowl 21 more weeks.

Army Seeking Deer Skins

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28 — The U. S. Army appealed to Ohio deer hunters today to preserve deer skins and to channel them into the tanning industry to supply mittens for soldiers in the Arctic.

Gloves made of native deer skins give warmth and freedom of action necessary for cold weather combat.

Ohio's deer season runs from Jan. 2 to Jan. 5. The skins may be sold to any purchaser of hides and skins and should be kept from spoiling.

CHS Cagers Depart For Ohio River

11 Tigers Make Overnight Trip

Circleville's Red and Black basketball team was to have left at about 2 p. m. Thursday for an overnight doubleheader cage tilt along the Ohio River.

The Tigers were to have left by private auto, furnished by Ed Amey and Boyd Stout, and will not return until early Saturday.

Tiger Coach Dick West said the boys will meet Ironton Thursday night, remain in that city overnight and then travel to Portsmouth for a Friday night encounter.

The Tigers should be evenly matched against the Ironton cagers in their first meeting, although they will be facing a powerhouse Friday night when traveling with Portsmouth.

PROBABLE STARTERS for the Tiger team in the Thursday fracas will be Bill Stout and Jerry Rooney at the forwards; Jim Cook at center; and John Valentine and Jerry Pritchard or Don Olney at the guards.

By comparing scores in a third-handed way, the Tigers should be about on par with the Ironton team Thursday.

Portsmouth's smooth-running court machine chalked up a 78-29 victory over Columbus Aquinas as one of its five victories in as many starts to date.

Circleville, on the other hand, fell to a 53-37 defeat at the hands of the Aquinas team.

By comparison, then, the Tigers should be evenly matched against Ironton, which also was beaten by the Portsmouth powerhouse by a 61-33 margin.

The Tigers will stay overnight in the Marting hotel in Ironton and will return home following its Friday night match against Portsmouth.

OTHER CHS'ERS who will make the trip, in addition to the probable starters, will be Don Mancini, Dave Coffland, Dudley Morris, Bill Gillis and Jack Pontius.

The Red and Black Tiger cagers will be seeking their second win in seven starts during the Thursday tilt after dropping matches to Aquinas, Columbus North, Washington C. H., Lancaster and Chillicothe while winning over Westerville.

The CHS team finished its practice workouts Wednesday with a session in Circleville Armory, since the Fairgrounds Coliseum was being decorated for the Mistletoe Ball, held Wednesday night.

Circleville sports fans who own FM radio receivers may be able to hear the Friday night contest between the Tigers and Portsmouth over WPAJ in Portsmouth. The frequency of the FM station is 104.1 megacycles.

Mrs. Vogeler Giving Up On Mate's Release

VIENNA, Dec. 28—Mrs. Robert A. Vogeler Jr., downhearted because the only Christmas wish of her two sons—"that those people let Daddy come home"—went unfulfilled, planned today to send the boys back to America. She said she is doing so after giving up all immediate hope that her husband, jailed as a spy by the Hungarian Communists, will be set free.

This holiday season was the second unhappy one for the Vogeler family and Mrs. Vogeler said she is sending Bobby, 10, and Billy, 9, to live with Robert A. Vogeler in New York.

The blonde, Flemish-born beauty up until now had steadfastly insisted that "all three of us will stick it out in Vienna until Bob comes home."

But now Mrs. Vogeler, discouraged by the failures to get her husband released, said she is planning to dispatch her sons to the United States.

Vogeler, an official of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was arrested in November, 1949, while on a business trip between Vienna and Budapest. He was sentenced to 15 years in a case branded as a sham and fraud by the U. S.

Phonevision Test Is Due Monday

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—The Zenith Radio Corporation's long-deferred experimental phonevision will be launched in Chicago Monday.

Company officials said today it will begin by screening three selected full length feature motion pictures without advertising on an experimental $1-a-show, pay-as-you-go basis to 300 Chicago families.

Phonevision tests were authorized by the Federal Communications Commission three months ago, but the programs were delayed through reluctance of some movie studios to release films.

Quad Amputee Arrives In Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Korean war's first American quadruple amputee started today on the long road back to a normal existence.

Pfc. Robert L. Smith arrived in Washington by plane on the last lap of a flight from Korea last night. He was taken immediately to Walter Reed hospital, where treatment and rehabilitation work will start.

Smith did not wish to be interviewed or photographed when he arrived, but Capt. William Luckadoo, Airforce public information officer, talked briefly with him and reported the amputee was greatly pleased to learn that his widowed mother, Mrs. Clara Smith, plans to fly from Middleburg, Pa., to his bedside later this week.

A letter from a quadruple amputee of World War II was enroute from Boulder, Colo., today to Smith.

Handsome Jimmy Wilson, a 25-year-old Colorado university student, wrote:

"I THINK the first thing you should remember is that it's not going to be easy. My legs are gone below the knees and my arms were amputated above the wrist, but I lead a normal life."

He said that he shaves and bathes without help, and can write—"one of the easiest things to do." He added that he can type, 20 words a minute, and types all his theses and term papers.

Wilson continued: "The first thing I did was learn to feed myself. I had a hard time with other people feeding me. They'd give me my potatoes when I wanted spinach."

He told Smith that "people probably will embarrass you. For example, it used to embarrass people to shake hands with my hook. So now I put my hook out first. It puts them at ease and that puts me at ease."

He said that he can drive a car, and added, "my wife and I go to all the social events we have time for on the campus. I can dance slow waltzes, no jitter-bugging."

Wilson married his pretty wife, Dorothy, last June 8 in Miami. He has a master's degree from the University of Florida, and just completed his first quarter at the CU law school.

1,526 Killed In Big Assam Earthquake

BOMBAY, Dec. 28—A terrific earthquake which rocked Assam last August was reported today to have killed 1,526 persons and caused $50.4 million worth of property damage.

Calcutta Geologist Dr. Ramachandra Rao said the summit of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, may have been pushed several hundred feet higher as a result of the quake.

Dr. Rao said the present height of Mt. Everest is now "anybody's guess pending the results of a new survey."

The terrifying quake defaced 15,000 square miles of hills, dales, jungles, ruined food crops and caused scores of streams to change their courses. Vast lakes mysteriously appeared and jungle landslides added to the destruction during the quake.

Hundreds of villages were buried by the landslides. One entire tribe, with the exception of just 17 persons, was wiped out.

Townsend Says Outlook Not Dark

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend plan, today offered three reasons why he believes the world outlook for 1951 is not as dark as some Americans feel it is.

The philosopher-physician, who will be 84 Jan. 13, admitted the prospect for immediate peace is not good, but added that world sentiment, Russian unpreparedness and United States productive capacity are bases for hope.

Medic Explains About Pushing In Trolleys

ATLANTA, Dec. 28—It's just another case of everybody wanting to get into the act.

So says an Emory university psychologist of people who refuse to move to the rear of crowded trolleys and buses.

For years, transit company officials everywhere have tried to discover why commuters prefer to press themselves against the front door of a vehicle rather than sway individually in the middle.

Dr. H. W. Martin, clinical and abnormal psychologist, says it is because Americans want to be "up front" participating in everything "either verbally or otherwise."

He explained: "Bold passengers are a kind of backseat driver. They like to help the driver by telling how the traffic situation is on the other side of the mass of humanity that blocks him from the door."

"Timid commuters are 'back seat riders' who stand up front and suppress their desire to comment."

Dr. Martin said this probably stems from the old competitive spirit of American life.

"We don't like to be made to feel inadequate," he explained, "and being forced to the rear of a trolley by a driver or fellow passengers hurts our pride."

Highland County Lake Project Given Boost

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—The $700,000 Rocky Fork Creek reservoir in Highland County was a step nearer to being a reality today as the state controlling board released an extra $70,000 for the multiple-purpose dam.

The board transferred the money from the state emergency fund to the Rocky Fork account in the Division of Natural Resources late yesterday in response to a request from Natural Resources Director A. W. Marion.

Marion told the board part of the money was necessary to make up the difference between the $650,000 legislative appropriation and a low construction bid of $699,092 by Fischer Brothers of Cincinnati.

The remaining $20,907 in his request is necessary to make certain changes in the proposed dam to bring it up to flood control standards as set by the U. S. Army Engineers.

Marion said that by conforming with Army Engineer standards the state may be able to recover the entire cost of the dam under the federal flood control program. He pointed out that this was done in the erection of a flood wall at Portsmouth.

National GOP Powwow Called For Jan. 26

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Republican National Committee was called today to meet in Washington Jan. 26 to launch a 1952 organization drive and take the first step toward picking its presidential convention city.

Chairman Guy Gabrielson called the 104-member committee together for the first time since the Nov. 7 elections to present a six-point program aimed primarily at:

Winning control of both the House and Senate two years hence.

Invading the South with a long-range campaign to organize a "real" Republican Party below the Mason-Dixon Line. Party leaders estimate it may be a 20-year job.

Gabrielson said the purpose of the Jan. 26 session is to "get an early start on our 1951 operations which will lay the foundations for a driving campaign in the presidential election of 1952."

Goals of the program will be to:

1. Set up "defensive and offensive" operations for 20 Republican senators facing reelection in 1952.

2. Use similar techniques for 199 House Republicans.

3. Go after the 12 Senate seats held by Democratic candidates for reelection.

4. Try to get 39 House seats in "closely-contested" Democratic districts.

5. Work to establish a "real two-party system in the South."

6. Broaden the GOP base by developing supplemental campaign groups.

County Youths To Discuss Consolidations

Views of Pickaway County young people toward consolidation of the county school system will be aired during a special broadcast Friday noon from Ohio State university.

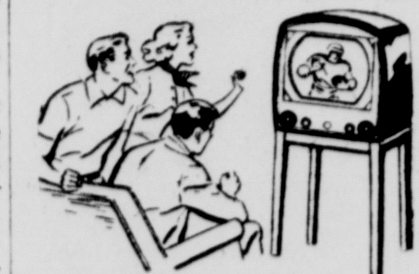

Representing Pickaway County older youth in the forum program will be Jeanne Reese and Nancy Timberlake, both of Williamsport.

Merle Thomas, associate county agent, said he will accompany the two young women on the trip as they speak on the Farm and Home Hour at noon Friday over WOSU.

Thomas said the girls will be matched against a pair of older rural farm youths from Ross County during the program in the discussion of consolidation.

Both representatives from Pickaway County are members of the Pickaway Extensioners and the Deercreek Hustlers 4-H groups.

Prof. J. P. Smith of OSU will be moderator for the two-county program.

Steel Hoarding Reported Nil

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—The Magazine Iron Age said today that voluntary price controls are doomed to failure even before they begin. It predicted that mandatory price controls are sure to be installed as soon as the Economic Stabilization Agency can collect a big enough staff to enforce them.

Meantime, the publication reported that a careful check in widely separated areas of the country has revealed there is practically no hoarding of steel by regular customers.

Only 3 Senators Found On Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Senate held its shortest session of the year Tuesday—one that lasted 22 seconds.

Only three senators—Wherry (R) Neb., Watkins (R) Utah and McCarran (D) Nev.—were on the floor for the perfunctory session.

The meeting failed, however, to beat the Senate record for brevity, chalked up by a session which lasted but 14 seconds.

The law, passed by Congress

Anti-Red Law Author Battles Repeal Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The author of the 1950 anti-subversive act asserted today that "the law will stand" despite renewed attempts to repeal it.

Senate Judiciary Chairman McCarran, (D) Nev., issued a strongly-worded comment on the formation of a national committee to repeal the law by 32 prominent educators, religious leaders and others.

McCarran said bitterly: "It is unfortunate at a time when Communist bullets are piercing the hearts of American boys in Korea that Communist propaganda should be encouraged and the Communist subversive activities should be fostered by an attempt to repeal a law intent on protecting the institutions set up to maintain a Democracy in the United States."

McCarran declared that no one has reason to fear the law except Communists and their followers. He said the sponsors of the repeal drive are ignorant of the laws provisions.

The law, passed by Congress

over President Truman's veto, provides for the registration of Communists and Communist front organizations, places severe immigration restrictions on members of all types of totalitarian organizations and bans Reds from defense or government jobs. It also requires the labeling of Communist literature.

Mrs. Vogeler Giving Up On Mate's Release

VIENNA, Dec. 28—Mrs. Robert A. Vogeler Jr., downhearted because the only Christmas wish of her two sons—"that those people let Daddy come home"—went unfulfilled, planned today to send the boys back to America. She said she is doing so after giving up all immediate hope that her husband, jailed as a spy by the Hungarian Communists, will be set free.

This holiday season was the second unhappy one for the Vogeler family and Mrs. Vogeler said she is sending Bobby, 10, and Billy, 9, to live with Robert A. Vogeler in New York.

The blonde, Flemish-born beauty up until now had steadfastly insisted that "all three of us will stick it out in Vienna until Bob comes home."

But now Mrs. Vogeler, discouraged by the failures to get her husband released, said she is planning to dispatch her sons to the United States.

Vogeler, an official of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was arrested in November, 1949, while on a business trip between Vienna and Budapest. He was sentenced to 15 years in a case branded as a sham and fraud by the U. S.

Phonevision Test Is Due Monday

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—The Zenith Radio Corporation's long-deferred experimental phonevision will be launched in Chicago Monday.

Company officials said today it will begin by screening three selected full length feature motion pictures without advertising on an experimental $1-a-show, pay-as-you-go basis to 300 Chicago families.

Phonevision tests were authorized by the Federal Communications Commission three months ago, but the programs were delayed through reluctance of some movie studios to release films.

Quad Amputee Arrives In Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Korean war's first American quadruple amputee started today on the long road back to a normal existence.

Pfc. Robert L. Smith arrived in Washington by plane on the last lap of a flight from Korea last night. He was taken immediately to Walter Reed hospital, where treatment and rehabilitation work will start.

Smith did not wish to be interviewed or photographed when he arrived, but Capt. William Luckadoo, Airforce public information officer, talked briefly with him and reported the amputee was greatly pleased to learn that his widowed mother, Mrs. Clara Smith, plans to fly from Middleburg, Pa., to his bedside later this week.

A letter from a quadruple amputee of World War II was enroute from Boulder, Colo., today to Smith.

Handsome Jimmy Wilson, a 25-year-old Colorado university student, wrote:

"I THINK the first thing you should remember is that it's not going to be easy. My legs are gone below the knees and my arms were amputated above the wrist, but I lead a normal life."

He said that he shaves and bathes without help, and can write—"one of the easiest things to do." He added that he can type, 20 words a minute, and types all his theses and term papers.

Wilson continued: "The first thing I did was learn to feed myself. I had a hard time with other people feeding me. They'd give me my potatoes when I wanted spinach."

He told Smith that "people probably will embarrass you. For example, it used to embarrass people to shake hands with my hook. So now I put my hook out first. It puts them at ease and that puts me at ease."

He said that he can drive a car, and added, "my wife and I go to all the social events we have time for on the campus. I can dance slow waltzes, no jitter-bugging."

Wilson married his pretty wife, Dorothy, last June 8 in Miami. He has a master's degree from the University of Florida, and just completed his first quarter at the CU law school.

1,526 Killed In Big Assam Earthquake

BOMBAY, Dec. 28—A terrific earthquake which rocked Assam last August was reported today to have killed 1,526 persons and caused $50.4 million worth of property damage.

Calcutta Geologist Dr. Ramachandra Rao said the summit of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, may have been pushed several hundred feet higher as a result of the quake.

Dr. Rao said the present height of Mt. Everest is now "anybody's guess pending the results of a new survey."

The terrifying quake defaced 15,000 square miles of hills, dales, jungles, ruined food crops and caused scores of streams to change their courses. Vast lakes mysteriously appeared and jungle landslides added to the destruction during the quake.

Hundreds of villages were buried by the landslides. One entire tribe, with the exception of just 17 persons, was wiped out.

Townsend Says Outlook Not Dark

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend plan, today offered three reasons why he believes the world outlook for 1951 is not as dark as some Americans feel it is.

The philosopher-physician, who will be 84 Jan. 13, admitted the prospect for immediate peace is not good, but added that world sentiment, Russian unpreparedness and United States productive capacity are bases for hope.

Medic Explains About Pushing In Trolleys

ATLANTA, Dec. 28—It's just another case of everybody wanting to get into the act.

So says an Emory university psychologist of people who refuse to move to the rear of crowded trolleys and buses.

For years, transit company officials everywhere have tried to discover why commuters prefer to press themselves against the front door of a vehicle rather than sway individually in the middle.

Dr. H. W. Martin, clinical and abnormal psychologist, says it is because Americans want to be "up front" participating in everything "either verbally or otherwise."

He explained: "Bold passengers are a kind of backseat driver. They like to help the driver by telling how the traffic situation is on the other side of the mass of humanity that blocks him from the door."

"Timid commuters are 'back seat riders' who stand up front and suppress their desire to comment."

Dr. Martin said this probably stems from the old competitive spirit of American life.

"We don't like to be made to feel inadequate," he explained, "and being forced to the rear of a trolley by a driver or fellow passengers hurts our pride."

Highland County Lake Project Given Boost

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28—The $700,000 Rocky Fork Creek reservoir in Highland County was a step nearer to being a reality today as the state controlling board released an extra $70,000 for the multiple-purpose dam.

The board transferred the money from the state emergency fund to the Rocky Fork account in the Division of Natural Resources late yesterday in response to a request from Natural Resources Director A. W. Marion.

Marion told the board part of the money was necessary to make up the difference between the $650,000 legislative appropriation and a low construction bid of $699,092 by Fischer Brothers of Cincinnati.

The remaining $20,907 in his request is necessary to make certain changes in the proposed dam to bring it up to flood control standards as set by the U. S. Army Engineers.

Marion said that by conforming with Army Engineer standards the state may be able to recover the entire cost of the dam under the federal flood control program. He pointed out that this was done in the erection of a flood wall at Portsmouth.

National GOP Powwow Called For Jan. 26

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Republican National Committee was called today to meet in Washington Jan. 26 to launch a 1952 organization drive and take the first step toward picking its presidential convention city.

Chairman Guy Gabrielson called the 104-member committee together for the first time since the Nov. 7 elections to present a six-point program aimed primarily at:

Winning control of both the House and Senate two years hence.

Invading the South with a long-range campaign to organize a "real" Republican Party below the Mason-Dixon Line. Party leaders estimate it may be a 20-year job.

Gabrielson said the purpose of the Jan. 26 session is to "get an early start on our 1951 operations which will lay the foundations for a driving campaign in the presidential election of 1952."

Goals of the program will be to:

1. Set up "defensive and offensive" operations for 20 Republican senators facing reelection in 1952.

2. Use similar techniques for 199 House Republicans.

3. Go after the 12 Senate seats held by Democratic candidates for reelection.

4. Try to get 39 House seats in "closely-contested" Democratic districts.

5. Work to establish a "real two-party system in the South."

6. Broaden the GOP base by developing supplemental campaign groups.

County Youths To Discuss Consolidations

Views of Pickaway County young people toward consolidation of the county school system will be aired during a special broadcast Friday noon from Ohio State university.

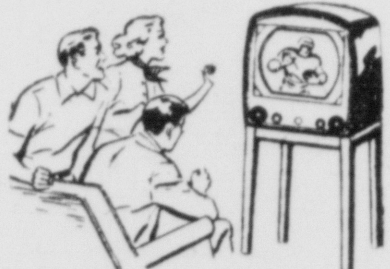

Representing Pickaway County older youth in the forum program will be Jeanne Roese and Nancy Timberlake, both of Williamsport.

Merle Thomas, associate county agent, said he will accompany the two young women on the trip as they speak on the Farm and Home Hour at noon Friday over WOSU.

Thomas said the girls will be matched against a pair of older rural farm youths from Ross County during the program in the discussion of consolidation.

Both representatives from Pickaway County are members of the Pickaway Extensioners and the Deercreek Hustlers 4-H groups.

Prof. J. P. Smith of OSU will be moderator for the two-county program.

Steel Hoarding Reported Nil

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—The Magazine Iron Age said today that voluntary price controls are doomed to failure even before they begin. It predicted that mandatory price controls are sure to be installed as soon as the Economic Stabilization Agency can collect a big enough staff to enforce them.

Meantime, the publication reported that a careful check in widely separated areas of the country has revealed there is practically no hoarding of steel by regular customers.

Only 3 Senators Found On Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The Senate held its shortest session of the year Tuesday—one that lasted 22 seconds.

Only three senators—Wherry (R) Neb., Watkins (R) Utah and McCarran (D) Nev.—were on the floor for the perfunctory session.

The meeting failed, however, to beat the Senate record for brevity, chalked up by a session which lasted but 14 seconds.

Anti-Red Law Author Battles Repeal Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The author of the 1950 anti-subversive act asserted today that "the law will stand" despite renewed attempts to repeal it.

Senate Judiciary Chairman McCarran (D) Nev., issued a strongly-worded comment on the formation of a national committee to repeal the law by 32 prominent educators, religious leaders and others.

McCarran said bitterly: "It is unfortunate at a time when Communist bullets are piercing the hearts of American boys in Korea that Communist propaganda should be encouraged and the Communist subversive activities should be fostered by an attempt to repeal a law intent on protecting the institutions set up to maintain a Democracy in the United States."

McCarran declared that no one has reason to fear the law except Communists and their followers. He said the sponsors of the repeal drive are ignorant of the laws provisions.

The law, passed by Congress

over President Truman's veto, provides for the registration of Communists and Communist-front organizations, places severe immigration restrictions on members of all types of totalitarian organizations and bans Reds from defense or government jobs. It also requires the labeling of Communist literature.
